

Happy New Year from the Klickitat PUD!

Keep your holiday spirit high and your electrical bill low with these helpful weatherization tips!

- Keep chilly air out, close doors, and seal drafty windows.
- Ensure that heating vents are unobstructed.
- Keep blinds and drapes closed.
- Close your chimney damper when not in use.
- Clean your air filters regularly.
- Check the heat duct work for leaks.

Jim Smith,
General Manager

"AMI meters give us the opportunity to alter how we interact with our customers. This technology allows us to interact with our customers about how we can better serve them."

Mike DeMott,
Power
Management

"Over time, AMI will result in lower costs for customers. We are undertaking this project because we believe it will provide benefits for our current and future customers. We have considered doing this project for many years, and as a result, we are one of the last utilities in the state to do it."

Brandy Myers,
Customer Service

"After a few months of estimating, it's nearly impossible to explain, 'Why is the bill so high?' Having the ability to tell a customer what their actual usage is will improve the effectiveness of high usage conversations and hopefully help customers identify their usage drivers and manage them accordingly."
