

Summer is Filled With Activities

Market Changes Name, Relocates

The Goldendale Saturday Market decided to change its name this year to the Goldendale Farmers Market. If you attend the market you likely will run into your neighbors and local farmers.

Lots of gardening and farming takes place in the Goldendale area. Those with home gardening interest can participate in the market by reserving a consignment table. Farmers are not required to join the association, but instead can drop off their produce in the morning and pick up their proceeds at the end of the day, minus a small percentage that will go to the market.

The farmers market is held Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. It puts consumers in touch with people who grow food and make food products.

The market has relocated to Ekone Park in Goldendale this year. In addition to plants, produce and crafts, the market will have food demonstrations, food to eat, kids activities and some musical entertainment.

Musicians or singers who want to perform can contact Lou Marzeles, (509) 773-3777, at The Goldendale Sentinel to sign up. The farmers market is a great opportunity to keep the older kids busy this summer with volunteer activities. To volunteer, contact Cindy Bleumel at bleumel1@mac.com

A Shopping Tradition

Nestled in the northwest corner of Klickitat County is the thriving community of Trout Lake. There are many activities to keep visitors happy, from climbing nearby Mount Adams to hiking, biking, fishing, camping, picking huckleberries and, of course, shopping at the annual summer Saturday Market.

Since 1985 in July and August, the community has enjoyed Saturday Market at the Grange Hall. People come from all over to attend the market, looking for the famous fresh-baked cinnamon rolls, huckleberry pies, jam, fresh local eggs, produce, local art and crafts and tasty organic cheese made from local Jersey cows. There are also handmade quilts for sale that add to the shopping experience.

This year, the Ninez family will provide a traditional breakfast and authentic Mexican lunch.

Trout Lake is also known for its annual Trout Lake Fair quilt raffle. Since 1983, the Trout Lake Quilters have made items to donate to needy individuals and groups, such as the Oregon veterans home, and recently provided a raffle quilt for the Trout Lake Fair. The winning ticket for the raffle quilt is drawn the first Saturday in August at the fair.

On the final weekend of the Trout Lake Saturday Market is the annual rummage sale. The sale will be September 3. The sale is sponsored by the Trout Lake Foundation and supports local students in furthering their education.

Come out for a great day of shopping and visiting at the Trout Lake Saturday Market, Saturdays 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. through September 3.
