Conservation District Plant Sales

If you could start something for a dollar that would make a more beautiful world with cleaner air, purer streams and shade for your grandchildren, would you?

It is time to place your order for native tree and shrub seedlings with your local conservation district. Wherever you live in Klickitat County, you can buy native seedlings for conservation purposes—such as wildlife habitat, hedge rows, reforestation, stream and wetland enhancement—at low-cost affordable rates.

Underwood Conservation District is accepting orders until March 3. Seedling pick-up is Friday, March 21, and Saturday, March 2, in White Salmon.

To view a list of the available species, a price list and an order form, visit the UCD website at www.ucdwa.org/ucd-programs/ucd-plant-sale. For more information and to order, contact the UCD office at (509) 493-1936 or email info@ucdwa.org.

Eastern and Central Klickitat Conservation Districts will accept orders until March 21. Seedling pickup is Saturday, March 29 from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Goldendale.

A catalog with ordering information and a list of the 50 available species are available online at www.ekcd.org and www.ckcd.org, at the Goldendale Farm store or can be mailed upon request. New this year, E/CKCD accepts debit and credit card payments. For more information and to order, contact the E/CKCD office at (509) 773-5823 ext. 5 or email cdoffice@gorge.net.

Prices vary depending on species, but most seedlings cost between $1.25 and $4.50 each. Large-quantity discounts are available. Quantities are limited, so order early for best selection. If you act now, you just might be able to sit in the shade of the trees that you plant. ■
